Adjusting exposure If you've paid attention to the bit depth and color resolution fields at the top of the Layers panel in Photoshop, you know that Photoshop can display images in 24-bit or 32-bit color and in 8-bit or 12-bit color. In 24-bit color, the red, green, and blue pixels in a digital image combine to make each of the image's colors. In 8-bit color, the red, green, and blue pixels make up only three color channels, so the red, green, and blue portions of the image combine to make only three colors. In 12-bit color, each of the red, green, and blue pixels combine to make 12 colors. When you shoot with an automatic exposure meter, you can normally shoot in the lowest 12-bit color setting without any problems. Shutter speed, lens focal length, camera aperture, and ISO may all contribute to making images a bit too light or dark. Of these options, choosing the lowest available aperture is probably the best way to prevent you from overexposing or underexposing

The IJ made no mention of the extraordinary 4 circumstances exception to the one-year filing requirement. The IJ did not receive the letter containing the potentially important information from the petitioner's mother until after the expiration of the one-year filing deadline. The IJ gave no reason for denying the motion to reopen on the ground that the petitioner had failed to inform him of the relevant facts. Thus, there was no evidence to support the IJ's conclusion that the petitioner had failed to exercise due diligence or that she would be prejudiced if the motion to reopen was granted. The IJ was within his discretion to apply equitable tolling to the one-year filing deadline, but he was not

Nether Real, Nether Imagination
"Nether Real, Nether Imagination" is a song recorded by American R&B singer Boyz II Men for their eighth studio album, 2000's Now and Then...The Classics. The song was released as the album's third single in early 2001 and became their last Top 10 hit on the Billboard Hot 100. The song was produced by Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, the same team that produced three of the group's previous hits: "Motownphilly", "I'll Make Love to You" and "Ma Baby Got a Maate". The lyrics represent a contrast between a man's struggle to establish some type of successful and stable relationship and the woman's desire to rebel and break off all ties with her past - wanting to live a life "complete and free" and not a life of uncertainty, compromise or compromise. The song, with its soothing chord changes and a simple, "yeah" riff, is the only song on the album that seems to "retain" the swing element of Boyz II Men's earlier work (while the other tracks are more minimal pop/R&B piano and synth-led tracks). In addition to a hugely positive reaction from the public, this song became a hit for the group, peaking at #8 on the Billboard Hot 100 for the week ending March 4, 2001. It became their last Top 10 hit on the Billboard Hot 100 until the chart dated September 19, 2009's "You and I (Who We Are)". The song was the album's second single to be released in the UK, debuting at #32 on the UK Singles Chart. In addition to the UK release, the single was also released in Australia, peaking at #33 on the ARIA Singles Chart. The song appears on the 2002 compilation album, The Very Best of Boyz II Men. Music video The music video was shot entirely in black and white, again contrasting with the rest of the album, which features lush and colorful cinematography. It begins with Boyz II Men in their dressing room, showing each man a bottle of scotch whiskey. After Boyz II Men leave the room, the video slows down until they enter the same room where they started. Throughout the video, the men interact with the whiskey, pouring it down the mirror, using a lighter to light the mirror, putting it in their mouths, and drinking. The video features Boyz II Men
